occasion, from the companion Guide by Occasion

Compiled by Tony Abraham against Yelp, Google, The New York Times, OpenTable, Resy, The Infatuation, Eater, Time Out and the Michelin Guide. Michelin marks reflect the 2025 New York selection, the most recent at time of printing; only stars and Bib Gourmands are shown. Cover: Brooklyn Bridge and Lower Manhattan, via Pexels.

Tony Abraham

Technology entrepreneur. New Yorker. A passionate home cook who learned that the best way to understand a dish is to try to recreate it the next morning.

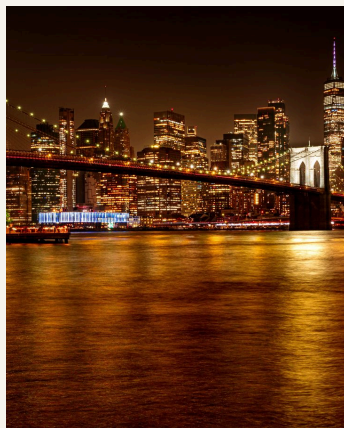

Honestly Speaking is written from a simple conviction: that the food itself — its taste, its texture, its quiet decisions — deserves a more careful kind of attention than it usually gets. The plate, not the room. The dish, not the hype.

Based in New York, with field notes from all around. listede ville / New York is the first published edition of the city guides — a running list of the places worth an evening, kept the way a New Yorker keeps one: revised, argued over, and never quite finished.

First compiled four years ago and rebuilt here against the current Michelin, 50 Best and New York Times selections. Other cities to follow.

Honestly Speaking is also a restaurant review site — independent, unsponsored, one dish at a time. The city guides tell you where; the reviews tell you what to order and why. Read them at honestlyspeaking.xyz.

For feedback — a question, a correction, a place we missed, or just to say hi — write to hello@listede ville.com.

Honor Roll • 10 plates

Don't leave without these.

Ten places, ranked by nothing but the plate. A cart, a food-hall counter, a Flushing dumpling room and a starred tasting room, all held to the same question: is this the best version of the thing in the city?

Every pick is somewhere I've eaten more than once and would send a friend on their only night in town. Room, scene and price didn't count. Only what arrived.

How to read it The marks are the same as everywhere else in the guide. The two lines under each name are new: why it made the roll, and what to put in front of you when you get there.

Semma

01

West Village; South Indian

★ NYT N°7 $$$ Resy Amex ✓
Date night Group

Vijay Kumar cooks the Tamil village food that never made it onto Manhattan menus: heat, sour, ferment, whole spice. It is the one starred restaurant in the city where the star feels beside the point.

Order Gunpowder dosai to start, nathai pirattal (snails, Chettinad-style) if you're willing, and the goat curry with parotta to finish. Eat the parotta with your hands.

Ambassador Clubhouse

03

Indian

new $$$

Punjabi club cooking — the food of the Delhi and Lahore members' clubs — done with real technique and no restraint on ghee, char or spice. Newer than everything else on this roll and already the Indian table I send people to first.

Order Start with the kebabs from the grill, then the butter chicken and dal, with the tandoor breads while they're still puffing. Save room for the kulfi.

Atoboy

02

NoMad; Atomix's casual sibling

new $$$ Resy Amex ✓
Date night Casual

Atomix's little sibling, and the better place to understand what the Park family does: Korean banchan logic applied to a short, sharp set menu at a third of the price. Every plate is built around one seasoning done exactly right.

Order The set menu — pick three from the list and let the table share. Whatever the current fried chicken or eggplant plate is, don't skip it.

Corima

04

LES/Two Bridges; Mexican

★ NYT N°37 new JBF 2026
Best Chef NY (Fidel Caballero) $$$ Resy
Amex ✓
Romantic Date night

Fidel Caballero cooks northern Mexico — Chihuahua flour tortillas, sotol, smoke — with a technique that looks east as often as south. New, starred, and still improving month to month.

Order The tasting menu. Whatever else comes, the flour tortillas alone justify the reservation.

Los Tacos No.1

05

Chelsea Market / Times Sq / Nolita

· Walk-in $ Walk-in

Casual

A Tijuana-style taco counter that happens to be in a tourist market. The adobada comes off a vertical spit, the tortillas are made in front of you, and nothing on the menu costs more than a coffee.

Order Adobada on a flour tortilla, with everything. Add a nopal taco. Eat standing up; there are no chairs.

Adel's Famous Halal Food

06

6th Ave & 43rd cart, by Bryant Park

new $

The cart the office towers around Bryant Park queue for at lunch, and the one that outcooks the famous name ten blocks north. The chicken is marinated properly, the rice is yellow with real spice, and the white sauce isn't an afterthought.

Order Chicken over rice, white sauce heavy, red sauce on the side so you control it. Ask for the mixed if you want the lamb too.

Tanoreen

07

Bay Ridge

Bib $$

Casual

Rawia Bishara's Palestinian kitchen is worth the R train to Bay Ridge. Home cooking with the depth of a restaurant — sumac, pomegranate, lamb, and the vegetable dishes that most places treat as afterthoughts.

Order Musakhan (sumac chicken on taboon bread), lamb fetti, and the fried Brussels sprouts with tahini, which are the reason half the room came.

Rezdôra

08

Flatiron; Emilia-Romagna

★ $$$ Resy Amex ✓

Romantic Date night

Hand-made pasta from one region, done properly, in a room that stays out of the way. The egg-dough plates here are the best in Manhattan; the ragù is cooked the slow way and tastes like it.

Order The Grand Tour of Emilia-Romagna pasta tasting. Solo, the tagliatelle al ragù bolognese and the tortellini in brodo.

Nan Xiang Xiao Long Bao

09

Flushing

new $$ Walk-in

Casual

The Flushing soup dumpling room that the Manhattan copies are measured against. Thin skins, hot broth, a wait that moves. Bring people who will finish a basket.

Order Crab-and-pork xiao long bao, a basket of the plain pork, and the scallion pancake. Lift, bite, drink the soup, then eat.

Thai Diner

10

Nolita

Bib $$ Walk-in

Date night Casual Brunch

Uncle Boons' owners rebuilt their restaurant as a diner and somehow made it better. Thai food at diner hours, with a Bib to prove the kitchen never dropped its standards.

Order Thai disco fries and the Thai tea babka French toast for brunch; the khao soi at night. The egg sandwich is a sleeper.

Cafés · 53 places

Cafés & all-day / chef's neighborhood spots

The rooms you return to on a Tuesday — wine-bar counters, all-day cafés and the neighborhood tables that quietly run the city.

The restaurants that behave like cafés: you can eat a full dinner or just take a glass of wine at the bar and a plate of something small. Most are chef-owned, most are in the West Village, Nolita or north Brooklyn, and almost all are better at 6pm on a weekday than at 9pm on a Saturday.

Why these Picked for consistency over spectacle. Every one of these appears on at least two of the source lists, and the newer entries — King, Lei, Le Veau d'Or, Sailor — are the rooms the NYT and Infatuation critics have been returning to this year. Casa Mono and Café Boulud carry Michelin stars; nine others hold Bib Gourmands.

Speakeasies · 59 places

Speakeasies & hidden bars

Phone booths, cobbler shops, subway mezzanines. Ranked, loosely, by how much you'll talk about it afterward.

New York invented the modern speakeasy revival at Milk & Honey in 1999, and the format has never left. The entrances are the fun part — a phone booth, a cobbler's shop, a subway mezzanine — but the drinks are what keep these on the list.

Why these Ranked by how memorable the drink is, not how hidden the door. Attaboy, Angel's Share and Double Chicken Please all placed on North America's 50 Best Bars 2026, and Sip & Guzzle is now the N°1 bar on the continent. The bottom of the list keeps your original picks that have since closed, so you can see what the scene lost.

Rooftop bars

Fifty ways to look down on Manhattan. The Met's roof is dark until 2030; the rest of the skyline is open.

Manhattan's skyline is the city's best free attraction, and a rooftop bar is the most civilized way to see it. These run from the Rainbow Room's Bar SixtyFive to a vineyard in the Navy Yard.

Why these Chosen for the view first and the drink second — with a few exceptions (Overstory, Nubeluz, Bar Blondeau) where the cocktails are the point. Guardian at the W Union Square is the newest opening, from summer 2026. The Met's roof garden is listed but dark: it closed in October 2025 and won't return until the new wing opens in 2030.

Fourteen of them made North America's 50 Best this year. The rest earn their place on history, a room, or one perfect drink.

The city's cocktail bars are, by consensus, the best in North America right now. Thirteen ranked in this year's 50 Best, three of them in the top five, and three of those opened in the last two years.

Why these Ranked entries lead, then institutions, hotel bars, historic taverns, wine, whiskey and beer. The test for the unranked ones was simple: would a serious drinker who lives here send a visiting friend? Bemelmans, McSorley's and Sunny's earn their place on history; The Four Horsemen and Ruffian on the wine list; Tørst and Other Half on the beer.

Third-wave roasters, Japanese kissaten, Aussie flat-white rooms and the one café inside a museum.

Third-wave roasters share the block with Japanese kissaten, Australian flat-white rooms and, since 2025, a wave of Chinese chains. This list stays with the independents.

Why these Selected for the cup and the room in equal measure. Devoción roasts Colombian beans within days of landing; Sey is the roaster other roasters visit; Hi-Collar and Kaigo bring the Tokyo coffee-house ritual; Cafe Sabarsky is the excuse to sit inside the Neue Galerie. Your original picks are kept, with a few flagged for a status check.

Restaurants

Six three-star kitchens, fifteen two-stars, and ninety Bib Gourmands — plus the classics that never needed a plaque.

The heart of the guide. Six three-star kitchens, fifteen two-stars, fifty-two one-stars and ninety Bib Gourmands in the current Michelin selection, cross-checked against the NYT's 2026 ranking, where a Caribbean tasting menu in the East Village took first place.

Why these Grouped by distinction so the tags do the work: stars, then NYT headliners, then Bibs, then the classics that never needed a plaque. Every restaurant on your original list is still here — with its current Michelin status, or struck through if it has closed. The Bib section is the one to read slowly; it's where the city eats best for the money.

Brunch · 56 places

Brunch spots

Eggs, lox, biscuits and the occasional rooftop Bloody Mary.

New York takes brunch more seriously than dinner in some neighborhoods. The list covers the West Village bistros, the LES appetizing counters, Harlem's soul-food institutions and a handful of hotel rooms worth the reservation.

Why these Kept your favorites, added the places that consistently top Resy and OpenTable's weekend demand: Clinton St. Baking Co., Sunday in Brooklyn, Golden Diner, Five Leaves. Russ & Daughters Cafe and Miss Ada hold Bib Gourmands. Meme's Diner and Prune are marked closed; Santana deserves a check.

Off-beat · 53 places

Off-beat & only-in-New-York

Tasting menus in subway stations, nonnas cooking on Staten Island, cabbie canteens and street-corner carts.

The only-in-New-York category: a tasting menu inside a subway station, a bar inside another subway station, Staten Island grandmothers cooking their own regional dishes, a Tibetan kitchen behind a phone shop in Jackson Heights.

Why these Selected for singularity — places that could not exist in any other city — plus the street-level classics (Xi'an, Scarr's, Mamoun's, the Halal Guys cart) that any local would insist on. Nöksu and Frevo hold Michelin stars despite the unlikely addresses; Enoteca Maria, Sagara and Phayul hold Bibs.

Bakeries · 56 places

Bakeries

Cronuts to cardamom buns. The city's ovens have never been better.

The best stretch in the city's baking history. The French wave (Dominique Ansel, Lafayette, Frenchette Bakery) is now matched by Brooklyn's own — Radio, L'Appartement 4F, Librae — and by Korean-French Lysée.

Why these Chosen on the strength of one signature item each: the Cronut, the babka, the cardamom bun, the cruller. Your list is intact; ChikaLicious, Patisserie Chanson and Mah-Ze-Dahr are marked closed, and Bien Cuit, Morgenstern's and Ovenly are flagged to verify.

For after — or instead of — dinner.

Gelato counters, Viennese coffeehouses, cheesecake temples and a Swedish candy store that had a line around the block for most of 2025.

Why these A mix of the destination (Lysée, Caffè Panna, Cafe Sabarsky) and the institution (Serendipity 3, Junior's, Veniero's). Max Brenner — on your original list — closed on August 29, 2026, after twenty years; it stays here, struck through, for the record.

Where the room is the point. Members' clubs, celebrity red-sauce, hotel bars with dress codes and the see-and-be-seen circuit from Tribeca to the Upper East Side.

Why these Tao and Buddha-Bar anchor the list as you had it; the additions are the places that define the current scene — Zero Bond, Casa Cipriani, San Vicente Bungalows, Jean's, The Corner Store — alongside the old guard (Polo Bar, Bemelmans, Elio's). Cote and Torrisi are the two here that also carry Michelin stars.

Dance clubs & nightlife

Bushwick warehouses, Chelsea megaclubs and the basements that go until sunrise.

The megaclubs of Chelsea and Midtown, the Bushwick warehouse circuit, and the restaurant-upstairs, dancefloor-downstairs model that Jean's and Paul's Baby Grand have made the downtown default.

Why these Your original seven are kept; the additions lean toward Brooklyn, where the sound systems (Nowadays, Public Records, Basement, Silo) are the best in the city. Avant Gardner and Lavo are flagged to verify. A closing line lists the clubs of the previous decade that no longer exist.

Itineraries · for a first-time visitor

Just follow this.

Three ready-made food itineraries — one, three and five days — built only from places on this list, so a first-time visitor can eat well without doing the research.

Each plan runs on foot and by subway, one borough a day, with a big dinner every night and a backup for every table that's hard to get. Times are suggestions; the order matters more than the clock.

How to use it Book the starred dinners the morning reservations open, then walk everything else. The gotchas on the last page cover the rest: cash, tickets, tipping, dress codes, and the Amex credit.

Itinerary · One day

One day

Downtown, on foot. The single day that shows a first-timer why New Yorkers argue about food.

You land in the morning and leave tomorrow. Everything is below 14th Street except the nightcap, and nothing needs a taxi. Book one thing: dinner. Everything else is walk-in.

The day

- | | |
|-------|---|
| 8:30 | Devoción (Flatiron)
A flat white from beans roasted days after landing from Colombia. Or a cruller at Daily Provisions on Union Square if the line is shorter. |
| 9:30 | Russ & Daughters Cafe (LES)
The classic board: nova, scallion cream cheese, everything bagel. Book on Resy the night before; or take it away from the 1914 shop on Houston Street. |
| 11:00 | Mei Lai Wah → Alimama (Chinatown)
Walk south. One baked pork bun, one mochi doughnut. Both under $5, both worth the detour. |
| 12:30 | Katz's Delicatessen (LES)
Pastrami on rye, cut to order. Take the ticket they hand you at the door and do not lose it. Tip the cutter a couple of dollars and he'll slide you a taste. |
| 2:30 | Dominique Ansel Bakery (SoHo)
Skip the Cronut queue unless you're early; the DKA and the frozen s'more are the real order. Then wander west into the Village. |
| 4:30 | Levain Bakery (West Village)
One chocolate-chip walnut cookie, split two ways. It's a meal. |
| 6:00 | Dante (Greenwich Village)
A negroni at the bar that made them famous. Sit outside if it's warm. |
| 7:30 | Semma (West Village) ★
South Indian, Michelin-starred, NYT №7. Reservations open on Resy 30 days out at 10am — set an alarm. Backup, same walk: Via Carota (walk-in, put your name down at 5:30) or Rezdôra (Resy). |
| 10:00 | Attaboy (LES)
No menu, no sign. Tell them what you like. Walk-in only; the line moves. If it's long, Double Chicken Please is two blocks away. |

Three days

Downtown, then Brooklyn, then uptown. One borough a day, one big dinner a night.

A long weekend. Day one is the one-day plan; days two and three cross the river and go north.

Book three dinners the day reservations open (see gotchas), and one lunch: Jean-Georges.

Day 1 · Downtown

All day Follow the one-day plan

Coffee at Devoción, bagels at Russ & Daughters, Katz's for lunch, the Village in the afternoon, Semma for dinner, Attaboy after.

Day 2 · Brooklyn

9:00 Radio Bakery (Greenpoint)

The cardamom bun and the ham-and-cheese croissant. Get there before ten; they sell out.

10:30 Devoción (Williamsburg)

The original roastery, under a skylight the size of a tennis court. Coffee two.

12:00 L'Industrie Pizzeria (Williamsburg)

One burrata slice, standing up. Then walk the waterfront to Domino Park.

2:00 Maison Premiere (Williamsburg)

Oysters and an absinthe drip at the marble bar — 50 Best Nº40. Book on Resy; the garden is the seat to ask for.

4:00 Bar Blondeau (Wythe Hotel)

Sixth-floor view of Manhattan for the price of a glass of wine. Beats every ticketed observation deck.

7:30 Lilia (Williamsburg)

Missy Robbins' pasta. Resy, 28 days out, and it goes in seconds — use Notify. Backups within ten minutes' walk: Misi (same chef, easier), Francie ★, Bonnie's (Cantonese-American, Bib).

10:00 Union Pool → Nowadays

A dive with a taco truck in the yard, then a car to Ridgewood for the best sound system in the city. Or stay put: Bar Madonna (50 Best Nº36) is three blocks from Lilia.

Day 3 • Uptown

- | | |
|-------|--|
| 9:00 | Barney Greengrass (UWS)
The Sturgeon King, since 1908. Sturgeon and eggs, a bialy, cash-friendly, no reservations — arrive before 9:30 on a weekend. |
| <hr/> | |
| 10:30 | Central Park → Cafe Sabarsky (UES)
Walk across the park to the Neue Galerie for a Viennese coffee and a slice of Sachertorte in the most beautiful room on Fifth Avenue. |
| <hr/> | |
| 12:30 | Jean-Georges (Columbus Circle) ★★
The two-course lunch prix fixe is the best-value Michelin meal in America. Book on OpenTable; ask for a table by the window over the park. |
| <hr/> | |
| 3:30 | Bemelmans Bar (The Carlyle)
Ludwig Bemelmans' murals, a martini, and a piano from 5:30. No cover before then; jackets are not required but everyone looks like they tried. |
| <hr/> | |
| 6:00 | Bar SixtyFive (Rainbow Room, 30 Rock)
Sunset from the 65th floor with the Empire State straight ahead. Dress code enforced — no sneakers, no shorts. Book on OpenTable. |
| <hr/> | |
| 8:00 | Le Bernardin (Midtown) ★★★
Eric Ripert's fish, three stars for three decades. Resy, 30 days out. Backup: Le Coucou ★ (SoHo, Resy) or Cote ★ (Flatiron, Resy) if you'd rather end downtown. |
| <hr/> | |
| 10:30 | The Campbell (Grand Central)
A nightcap in a 1920s railroad magnate's office, then the train home. Or Bemelmans again — after 9:30 it costs a cover, and it's worth it. |

Five days

The three-day plan, plus Queens and one day that is entirely about the splurge.

Enough time to eat like a resident: the outer boroughs, an omakase counter, a speakeasy crawl, and a proper Sunday brunch. This is a reservations trip. Set alarms for Semma, Lilia, Le Bernardin and your omakase; the rest is walk-in.

Days 1–3

All Follow the three-day plan
Downtown, Brooklyn, uptown.

Day 4 · Queens

- | | |
|-------|--|
| 10:00 | 7 train to Jackson Heights
Take the 7 from Grand Central; the ride is part of the trip. Bring cash — many of the best things today don't take cards. |
| 10:30 | Lhasa Fast Food (Jackson Heights)
Tibetan momos, through the back of a phone shop on 74th Street. Phayul (Bib) is upstairs across the road if you want the spicier version. |
| 12:00 | Kabab King (Jackson Heights)
NYT №100 and the mayor's canteen. Chicken tikka, seekh kebab, and the naan straight from the tandoor. Walk-in, cash-friendly. |
| 1:30 | Corona Plaza street vendors
Two stops east. Tacos, tlayudas, and esquites from the carts under the 103rd Street station. Cash only. |
| 3:00 | Nan Xiang Xiao Long Bao (Flushing)
Ride the 7 to the end for the soup dumplings, then White Bear for wontons in chili oil. Walk-in; expect a line at Nan Xiang, and it moves fast. |
| 6:30 | Casa Enrique (Long Island City)
Back toward Manhattan on the 7. Chiapas-style Mexican that held a Michelin star for a decade. Resy. |
| 9:00 | Dutch Kills (Long Island City)
A serious cocktail bar four blocks from the train, then one stop home. |

Day 5 • The splurge, and Sunday

11:00 Golden Diner (Two Bridges) or Sadelles (SoHo)

Brunch. Golden Diner's Thai tea pancakes and honey-butter egg sandwich (Resy, or a short wait); Sadelles for the bagel tower if you want the room.

1:30 Chelsea Market → Los Tacos No.1

Adobada tacos at the counter, then the High Line north to Hudson Yards.

3:30 Overstory (FiDi, 64th floor)

50 Best №33. Resy. Go at golden hour; the terrace wraps around the building.

5:30 Speakeasy crawl, East Village

PDT (through the phone booth in Crif Dogs — same-day tables on Resy at 3pm), then Death & Co across Avenue A (Resy), then Amor y Amargo (walk-in) for bitters.

8:30 Omakase: Sushi Sho ★★★ or Sushi Nakazawa ★

Sushi Sho is the new three-star; Tock, weeks out. Nakazawa is the one you can actually get: Tock, and the lounge takes walk-ins. Alternative splurge: Eleven Madison Park ★★★ (Resy; plant-based) or Per Se ★★★ (Tock; the four-course salon menu is the value play).

11:00 Le Bain (The Standard) or Public Records (Gowanus)

Le Bain for the Meatpacking rooftop and the plunge pool; Public Records for the hi-fi room. Either way, you've earned it.

Before you go.

The things New Yorkers know and visitors learn the expensive way.

Reservations open on a schedule, not when you remember.

Most Resy restaurants release tables 30 days out at 9 or 10am ET (Lilia: 28 days). Set alarms, use Resy's Notify for waitlists, and add your Amex to Resy for Global Dining Access and Platinum Nights, which unlock tables the public can't see. Walk-ins: arrive at 5:15 for a 5:30 opening, or take a bar seat — most places save some.

Cash is not dead here.

Lucali, Di Fara, Punjabi Deli, most Jackson Heights and Corona Plaza vendors, and Peter Luger (cash or debit only — no credit cards) all want it. Carry $100 in small bills on the Queens day.

The Katz's ticket.

They hand you a ticket at the door; every counter marks it; you pay on the way out. Lose it and it's a $50 fee. Tip the cutter a few dollars in cash before he slices.

Tip 20%, and the price isn't the price.

Menus exclude 8.875% sales tax, and 18–22% tip is expected on the pre-tax total. Some restaurants now add a service charge — check the bill before tipping again. Bartenders: a dollar or two per drink, 20% on cocktails.

Dress codes are real in a few places.

Bar SixtyFive, The Polo Bar, Le Bernardin and Per Se enforce them — no shorts, no sneakers, and jackets are expected at the last two. Bemelmans and the speakeasies don't care, but a collared shirt goes further everywhere.

Bring ID, even if you're sixty.

Every bar cards. A passport or driver's license; a photo on your phone won't work. Speakeasies also have house rules — no photos at Attaboy and PDT, no standing at the bar at Angel's Share.

Monday and Tuesday are the quiet days.

Many restaurants close one or both (Lucali is closed Tuesdays; Semma and Lilia are closed Mondays). Rooftops are seasonal and weather-dependent — Serra by Birreria and Rooftop Reds are summer-only; call before crossing town in November.

Three neighborhoods a day, not five.

The subway is fast but the city is big. Tap in with any contactless card or phone (OMNY) — no MetroCard needed, and fares cap after 12 rides in a week. Late-night in Brooklyn and Queens, take a car.

Use the Amex credit like a New Yorker.

The Platinum credit is $100 per quarter and doesn't roll over; the Gold is $50 twice a year. Pay with the enrolled card at any Resy venue showing the 'Resy Credit eligible' badge (Tock venues too from September 15). No need to book through Resy — just pay with the card. Check which quarter you're in before the splurge dinner.

Anything marked verify, verify.

A handful of places on the list have been reported closed, moved or renamed since this edition went to press. Thirty seconds on Resy or Google before you get in a cab.

The bagel rules.

Order it by cream cheese, not by 'plain': 'everything with scallion' is the New York order. Don't ask for it toasted at Russ & Daughters, Utopia or Apollo — a fresh bagel isn't. And no, it's not the water.

One for the road.

Airport lounges count: Pierre Hermé at the Delta lounge and The 1850 bar at the Centurion Lounge are both at JFK, and both on this list.

Notes

Michelin: the 2025 New York selection (announced November 2025) lists five three-star restaurants — Eleven Madison Park, Le Bernardin, Masa, Per Se, Jungsik — plus Sushi Sho, promoted this year, for six; fifteen two-stars; fifty-two one-stars; and around ninety Bib Gourmands. New York's 2026 selection had not been announced when this edition went to press.

Bar rankings are from North America's 50 Best Bars 2026, announced in Vancouver on April 22, 2026. Restaurant rankings are from The New York Times' "100 Best Restaurants in New York City, 2026", published May 2026 under critic Ligaya Mishan.

Anything marked verify is a place whose current status couldn't be confirmed for this edition, or that has been reported closed, relocated or renamed. A quick check on Resy or Google before planning an evening around it is worth the thirty seconds.

Booking platforms are listed as best known at time of printing and do change; the Resy app is the source of truth. Amex ✓ marks places where the American Express Resy dining credit should apply: the Platinum Card earns up to $100 back each quarter and the Gold Card up to $50 twice a year at U.S. Resy restaurants, paid with the enrolled card — no booking through Resy required. Since August 1, 2026 eligible venues carry a "Resy Credit eligible" badge in the Resy app, and Tock venues join the credit from September 15, 2026 as Tock folds into Resy; check the badge before you commit a credit.
